Why Having a Professional Coach Can Benefit Your Figure/Bikini & Bodybuilding Competition Preparation

The level of competition has improved through the years and even national and professional level competitors have coaches to guide them in preparation for their competitions.

As your coach I can offer my experience, my knowledge and critique your physique while guiding you through your journey of preparation for the competition.

Many competitors make the mistake of asking friends, family and other novice competitors for their opinions which fall short of accurate assessments.

As a former IFBB professional competitor, state and national judge, contest promoter and 30 years of coaching experience, I have the credentials needed to guide you.

I will help you reach your best condition and help you pose properly at the competition. Not realizing the importance of proper posing could make the difference between winning and not even placing.

I will help you in selecting the right competitions and help plot your next level of competitions.

By referring to this brochure and my website, you will see pictures and read testimonials of clients of mine in novice, national and professional levels who, while working with me, have been successful in their competitions.

I will work with you to take you into the competition prepared and keep you from making mistakes that may take years to unlearn!
